FOREWORD

To keep alive the memories of the past year, to record the happenings which made it interesting, and to create better friendship between the school and community is the purpose for which we, the seniors of '36, publish this edition of "The Lariat".

DEDICATION

We, the senior class of 1936, dedicate this, the sixth edition of the Lariat, to

MISS RUTH K. WYSE

whose untiring efforts have raised the standards of our school, whose loyalty has inspired us, whose wisdom is our advice, and whose humor and kindly cheer have filled our days with sunshine.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The members of the board of education get a very small return in material reward for the work they do and the huge responsibility that rests upon their shoulders. The pupils of Pettisville High School realize this and would like to show their appreciation. Therefore, we wish to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt thanks, not only to the present members, but also to those who have served us so well in the past.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

It seems only a short time ago that forty-seven of us entered Pettisville High School to battle with problems in mental, physical, and social fields.

When we were freshmen Anna Rose Leu was elected president, and Miss Dukes class advisor. Initiation with its laughter and fun, seemed to be the most important class event. Later in the year, of course, we gave a return party for the sophomores.

As freshmen the joke was on us but as sophomores we had our turn at laughing at the new freshmen. With the aid of Walter Gisel as president and Miss Dukes as class advisor, the sophomores made the freshmen obey their initiation instructions.

This brings us to the junior year, a year of activities with Donald Neidhardt as president and Miss Wase as class advisor. As usual it was the juniors' duty to publish PET ECHOS, the school paper. Also a play, A TALE OF TWO SILLIES, was presented and proved to be a great success. During the later part of the school term we sponsored the junior-senior banquet.

Here we are, in 1936, with twenty-four still on board the ship, having Lowell Rychener as captain and Miss Wase as advisor. Of course, the greatest task before us this year has been publishing the 1936 "LANIAT". Naturally, we believe our annual is the best ever published here.

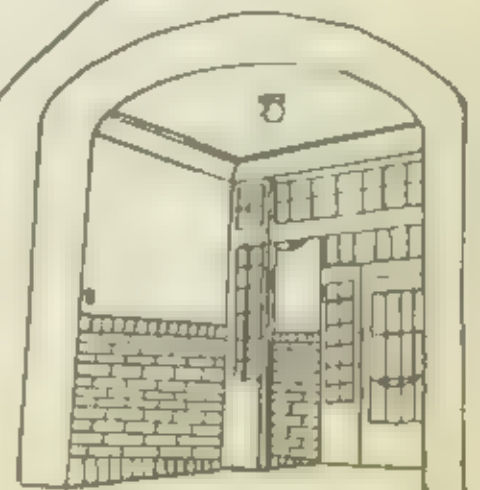

As the curtains close on the commencement scene, we utter sighs of regret at leaving, but only for a moment, for we are looking forward to facing new experiences of life and finding our niches in this great expanse of land and water called the world.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of Pettisville High School of 1936, being of sane mind and sound memory, publish and declare this to be our last will and testament:

Trula Clair wills her nail polish to Mr. Steigely.
Walter Gisel wills his scientific head to Lloyd Huber.
Edith Grieser bequeaths her dimple to Andrew Rupp.
Paul Hess wills his basketball ability to Richard Oyer.
Twila Hess wills her golden hair to Herbert Spangler.
Wilma Hess wills her bashfulness to Helen Rychener.
Virginia Hill wills her height to James Weber.
Georgia Huber wills her musical ability to Sherman Taylor.
Merle Krause wills his caritone horn to someone who will use it more than he.
Louie Lehman wills his interest in brunettes to Carl Beck.
Louella Leupp bequeaths her freakishness to Beulah Short.
Donald Miley wills his ability to talk in history to Florence Grieser.
Helen Nafziger wills her leadership ability to Walter Krieger.
Vern Nafziger bequeaths his dates to Lorraine Liechty.
Donald Neidhardt wills his love affairs to Carl Schmucker.
Marie Rice wills her ability to have boy friends to Laura Merrillat.
Florence Richer bequeaths her curly hair to Jesse Grieser.
Irene Rittichier wills her class ring to the one who has it most.
Dorothy Ruetz wills her ability to wave hair to Marjorie Siegel.
Lowell Rychener leaves his friendly disposition to the Juniors.
Berneda Seiler bequeaths her commercial ability to Paul Smith.
Eileen Williams wills her studiousness to Vincent Zimmerman.
Lawrence Weber wills his slender stature to Kenneth Weber.
Wayne Weber wills his gift to argue to Ivan Nafziger.

Sealed—The Senior Class.

CLASS PROPHECY

"Please accept my resignation." After having served twenty-five years as Lady Supervisor of Alcatraz Prison, I, Eileen Williams, suddenly find myself yearning to return to the land of Peace and Plenty. What a relief it is to board an airplane for home! There is something familiar about the pilot and I begin to wonder who he is.

"Are you by any chance Lawrence Weber?" I ask.

He assures me that I am correct, so I inquire further.

Yes, he's married—to Marie Rice, who was an air-stewardess up to the time of their wedding. They live in Los Angeles, California.

The plane lands and I find myself on one of the strangest landing fields I have ever seen—so beautifully constructed and so small. The pilot briefly explains that he has to stop here a moment, that this is the home of Lowell Rykener and his wife, the former Georgia Huber of Pettisville. Spying a servant I inquire about the landing field. Well, he certainly is amazed to find a living white person who had not heard of Lowell's invention! He also informs me that Lowell and his right-hand man, Marle Krauss, have made millions from this simple invention, a private landing field. They are busy constructing them day and night.

Tell, I simply must visit Georgia! What a lot of news she has! Louella still is as crazy about Joe, in spite of some twenty years of marriage, as she was in high school days. At present Dorothy Ruetz is in Paris giving demonstrations of her new style of hair dress. And are they a hit? Georgia tells me also how everybody goes to the circus these days to see the stunning clown, Louis Lehman. He also has fattened his purse.

It is time to go on. After a hop of a couple hours we land at Yellowstone National Park. Early afternoon stroll I see a couple. The woman looks familiar. It is Helen Wafziger and her husband who are on their honeymoon now. Helen has just finished a successful business career. I again ask for more news. She tells me that Paul Hess is hailed as the greatest governor Ohio has ever had and his name is prominently mentioned as presidential candidate. Berneda Seiler is his private stenographer.

"What about Florence Richer?" I ask.

"Oh, she's married and lives on a farm near Pettisville", she replies.

Having decided to travel by train for a while, I board one for Chicago. Across the street from the depot in Chicago I notice the sign "Eat at Griesser's". Being rather hungry I enter and when should I see behind the cash register but Edith Griesser, a classmate of my school days and manager of this inn. The waitresses are none other than Wilma and Twila Hess, together now as they always were in school days. A nice comfortable chair in the corner makes me want to sit and do nothing for a while. I turn on the radio and lo and behold! What do I see but the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in a small hole about the size of a button. Edith comes to my rescue. Smiling she tells me of Vern Wafziger's wonderful racket which has revolutionized the radio world. Then she asks if I don't recognize the orchestra leader. It is none other than Donald Neidhardt. He is the best musician in the world today and he and his wife (Virginia Hill) have just returned from Europe.

As I'm getting over-anxious to return to Pettisville I leave the cozy inn for the depot. After carefully scrutinizing the ticket agent I decide it is Walter Steel and I'm right. Even as in school days, wherever you find Edith you're sure to find Walter.

"All aboard for Pettisville", lustily yells the conductor.

I overhear two men talking. "Some game Weber pitched for the Tigers today".

"Isn't it marvelous how that man can pitch consistently year after year?"

"Yep, one of that famous group that made history in '36".

Looking out of the window, I see the smoke stack of the Pettisville School. How good to be back in Pettisville again. As I alight from the train whom should I run into but Trula Clair! She has been a famous actress for a long time. Together we roam through the city. On a side street we run into Donald Miley fixing a tire on his Model T. He is patiently waiting for his sixtieth birthday in order to get his Townsend Pension.

We find a late edition of PET TOWN on sale at a news stand. Of course we buy it and scan through the headlines. Here's something interesting. "Irene Hittichier, '35, did a heroic piece of rescue work when her home caught fire. She carried her children from blazing rooms to safety."

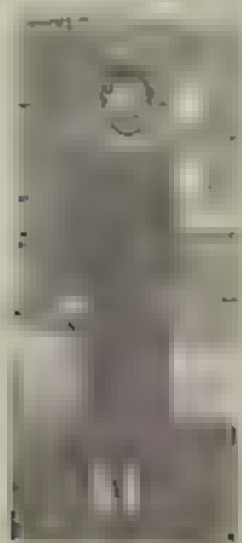

Seemingly, every place we go we hear much praise for those who graduated in '35. They are the pride of the city. All the old gray-haired men and women proudly point back to the time they were students of P. H. S. and were acquainted with us personally.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

All aboard! We started our line as a group of greenies, and progressed rapidly as we went along. When we started we had on our train twenty-nine passengers, with Blanchard Amstutz as engineer.

On our next trip we were not so successful in our traveling as the first year. Our train had a wreck, losing some along the way. Blanchard was still our engineer.

This year our train, all decked out in bright colors, started a very successful trip. Helen Ryckener was chosen as the engineer, and urged us on. We had Lloyd, Howard, Paul, and Walter as helpers on the varsity basketball team. All the other members of the class were equally ambitious. We gave the play BACK AGAIN HOME TOWN, and later the Junior-Senior banquet.

We are looking forward to our next year with a great deal of enthusiasm.

First row: Helen Ryckener, Howard Hofziger, Lorraine Liechty, Jesse Grieser, Helen Burkholder.

Second row: Carl Beck, Paul Smith, Gladys Rupp, Dorothy Bernath, Herbert Spengler, Sherman Taylor.

Third row: Grace Taylor, Richard Oyer, Lloyd Huber, Walter Krieger, Andrew Rupp, Marjorie Siegel.

First row: Maurice Frey, Robert Hull, Betty Rupp, Vincent Zimmerman, Wauneta Wyse, Junior Sunday, Arlene Heidhardt, Harmon Hess, Wauneta Leu.

Second row: Meliah Short, Chester Salfinger, Margaret Zigler, Paul Williams, Laura Merrillat, Stanley Beaverson, Violet Frey, Carl Schmucker, Iva Balcom.

Third row: Herman Clair, Doris Lawrence, G. L. Wentz, Rosella Rittichier, Herman Liechty, Ruth Burkholder, Harold Liechty, Myrtle Severence, Cleo Vonier.

Fourth row: Ivan Salfinger, Florence Grieser, Velma Short, Vesta Miller, Mildred Mehl, Ruth Hartman, Helles Roth.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Toot! Toot! We are leaving the station at Freshman for the town of Sophomore. When we started forty "Freshies" boarded the new streamlined train, "Education", to take us on our journey of learning.

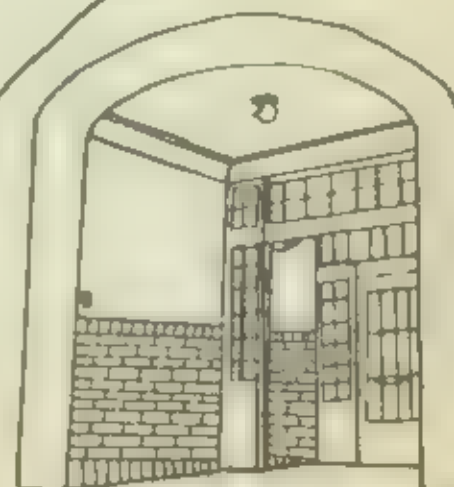

Vincent Sunday was elected engineer and Maurice Frey our assistant engineer. Arlene Heidhardt was chosen conductor to take care of the money and the accounts of our special meetings. We elected Mr. Gottschalk to aid us when we should become entangled in difficulties on our first journey.

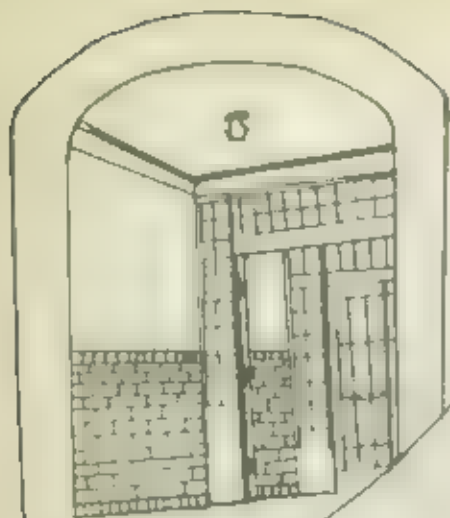

During our travels the train ahead of us initiated us, after which we felt more dignified. Frequently we were hit by storms but we could not expect perfect weather all the time. All of us recovered from the calamity, "The Blizzard of Final Examinations". During this first year a few left our train to board the "Train of Life".

After resting at the town of Vacation temporarily, thirty-six of us boarded the train, "Education", at the town of Sophomore. Maurice was elected engineer, Robert Hull assistant engineer, and Betty Rupp conductor. Miss Giger was chosen to help us through the arduous places.

Our trip from town Sophomore was more tempestuous than our trip the year before. It was to be expected that we meet storms and find obstacles lying across our path because we should be progressive instead of retrogressive. As is the custom, we initiated the Freshmen this year. We have successfully passed "The Tempest of First Semester Exams" and are preparing for the most difficult tests, "The Tempest of Final Examinations".

Already we can see our destination for this year, the station at Junior, very dimly, in the distance.

FRESHMEN CLASS HISTORY

First floor—that's where you'll find us because we're just beginners; at least the rest of the high school seems to think so. "Greenies" is what they call us. But just the same we are faithful workers.

Last September forty of us enrolled in Pettieville High School. Some of us were very shy, fearing we would do something wrong, although we were glad for the new title.

Several of the class dropped out soon but the rest of us are still tugging for good grades.

A few weeks after school had started we called a class meeting to elect officers. Robert Rychener won the election and became president while Paul Rychener took second place and became vice-president. We trusted Leona Lawrence both with our money and with writing up the minutes, and as a result elected her as secretary-treasurer. We chose Mr. Robbins as class sponsor to guide us through all our difficulties.

You may see some members of our class represented in all school activities. There are several of our boys on the basketball team and several in band and orchestra. We are represented in the Student Council by Paul Rychener and Charles Gasche.

Watch for our class each year and when we're seniors you'll hear plenty of us.

ORGANIZATIONS

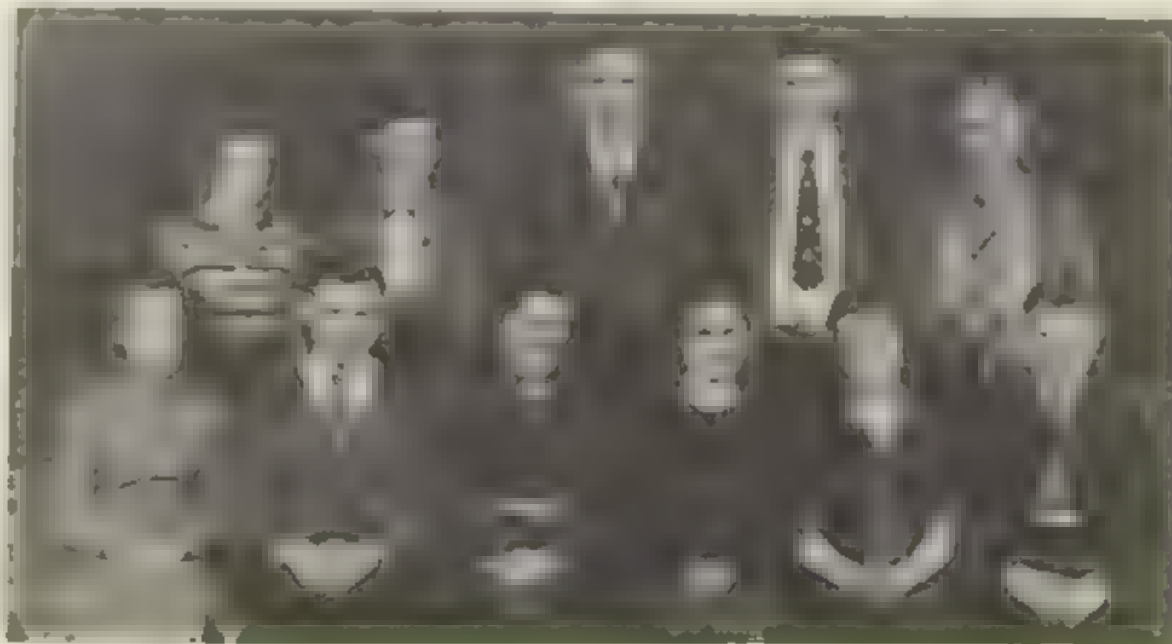

ANNUAL STAFF

Early in the year our class decided to follow the custom of the other seniors and publish an annual. The following staff was chosen:

Editor-in-Chief	Helen Nafziger
Assistant Editor	Georgia Huber
Business Manager	Walter Gisel
Art Editor	Marie Rice
Sports Editor	Paul Hess
School Activities Editor	Lawrence Weber
Jokes Editor	Donald Neidhardt
Literary Editor	Dorothy Ruetz
	{ Trula Clair
Typists	{ Dorothy Ruetz
	{ Paul Hess

This staff, with the help of the rest of the class, Miss Wyse, and Mr. Rychener, has put forth its best efforts to publish an annual different from those of previous years.

We hope this annual will serve its purpose.

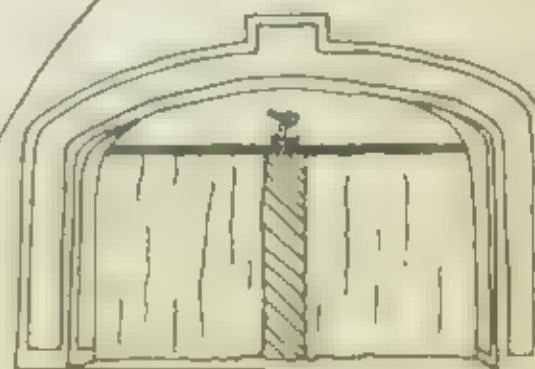

STUDENT COUNCIL

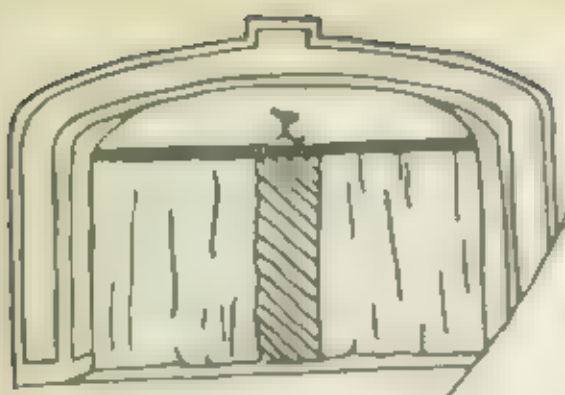

Our student council functions with the aid of a faculty advisor, Mr. Ryben-er, a president, vice-president, secretary, and representatives from the upper six grades.

Problems concerning the welfare of our school are discussed and settled to the best of our ability.

The council widened its duties this year in order to have a more decided influence on the school. It sponsored an attendance project which had a noticeable effect on the grades.

This organization was created not only in order to criticize, but to make our school better in every way by constructive criticism and advice. With the cooperation of the school our objectives have, at least partially, been accomplished.

PET ECHOES

PET ECHOES this year has been more of a success than other years, we think. The first issue was given free to all families represented in school. This, naturally, added a good many subscriptions to our list. The paper is published every second Tuesday of the school year.

We have added some new features to the paper this year, such as birthdays and a snooper column, which attracted considerable interest. The paper has been improved by hard work and different features.

Carl Beck has headed the staff this year. Most of the staff belongs to the junior class as the paper is a junior project.

LIBRARY STAFF

The library staff is one of the most important organizations in the Pettieville High School. It is divided into two groups, of which the head librarian, Helen Nafziger, is in charge. The one group consists of a librarian and his assistant for each study period, who check all books taken out and returned. The other group, consisting of the head librarian, Lorraine Lischty, Florence Griesser, and Helen Frey, mends, rebinds, and keeps the books in good condition for use. Miss Wyse, the faculty supervisor of this organization, helps them and advises them in their work.

As our library has not received many new books this year, it has been necessary that the staff keep those that we have in good condition. We, the seniors, hope that even better care will be given the books in the future and that many new ones may be added to the library.

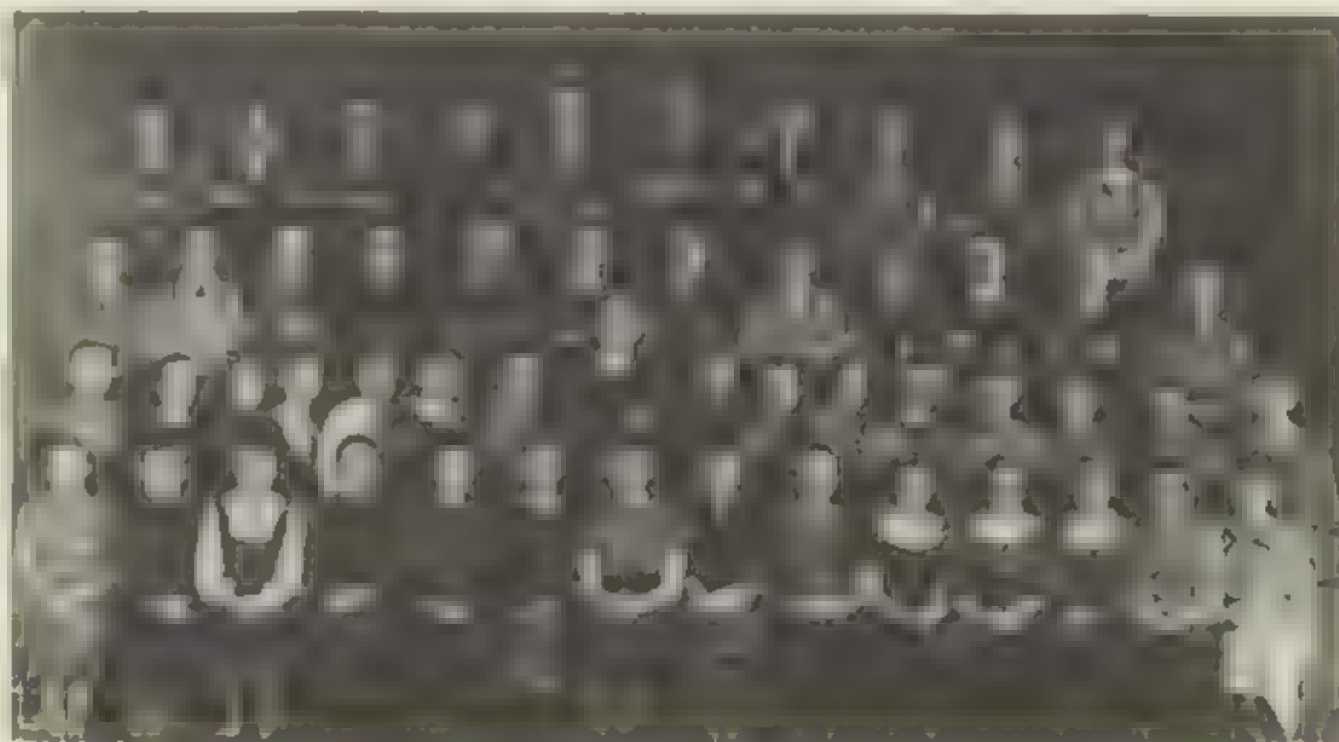

CHORUS

The chorus has done much to help promote harmony in school life this year.

The interest which the members of the chorus and the school have shown in it have helped to make it a success. The chorus gave a very successful performance of the operetta, ASK THE PROFESSOR, in which the members were given an opportunity to display their talents.

BAND

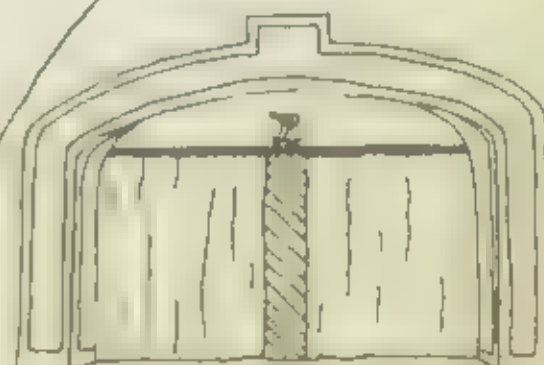

Due to the graduation of last year the band had to be rebuilt in most of its sections. After the first of the year it began to show some progress which continued throughout the rest of the year. Our director, Mr. Steigely, has worked hard to improve the band and we feel that he has accomplished much in this way. The band played for the junior class play and other school activities.

ORCHESTRA

Progress is the keynote to success. To say our orchestra has struck the keynote is to say it has been successful.

During the past year the orchestra has shown much improvement under the direction of Mr. Steigely. It played for various school programs and whenever called upon by the community.

A number of students from the lower grades, who play instruments, were brought into the orchestra. We are expecting big things from those who are starting while they are in the lower grades.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

The literary societies this year were made up of the students from the classes seven to twelve inclusive. The seventh, ninth, and eleventh grades formed one; the eighth, tenth, and twelfth grades formed the other. The former organization elected Helen Rydner president and Marjorie Siegal vice-president and the latter elected Lawrence Weter president, Florence Richer vice-president, and Trula Clair secretary-treasurer.

The programs given by both societies were educational as well as entertaining. The program committees and the students deserve credit for the way they cooperated and for the effort they put forth in preparing the programs which were given every other Friday.

SAILING HOME MAKERS

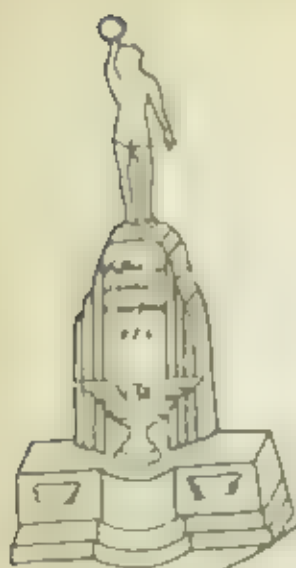

This year the home economics club had a larger membership than ever before. Early in the fall we met and organized. The officers were as follows: president, Dorothy Smith; vice-president, Georgia Weter; secretary-treasurer, Trula Clair; chairman of the program committee, Wineta Wyse. Our programs were very interesting and educational. They included a style show, a kitchen cabinet band, and personal sewing. At Christmas time we had a party, exchanged gifts, and served refreshments.

Miss Grier was our advisor and we feel she has worked very hard to make our club a success.

ATHLETICS

BOOSTER COMMITTEE

The Booster Committee consists of Betty Rupp, chairman, Trula Clair, and Virginia Hill, with Georgia Huber and Helen Ryckner, senior high cheer leaders, and Hazel Taylor and Betty Weidman, junior high cheer leaders. The Booster committee this year did all it could to increase the school spirit and improve the sportsmanship of the school and community. The members of the committee worked hard all year to help the team and school. At every home game they gave the team a small treat and at games away from home gave them little souvenirs. We, the Booster Committee, hope that the future Boosters will keep up the good work.

LETTERMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The Pettisville athletic association is an organization composed of boys of the school who have been awarded an official athletic emblem for participation in some branch of high school sport. It is the purpose of this organization to raise the standard of athletics by stimulating interest in and cooperation with the athletic department in every possible way.

In order to become a member of this organization one must play in at least one half the quarters of the basketball games. To win a letter in track one must win a first place or its equivalent in one track meet. The members of this association are Paul Smith, Lloyd Huber, Donald Reichardt, Wayne Weber, Paul Hess, Howard Kefziger, Walter Krieger, and Lawrence Weber.

BASKETBALL

The Pettisville basketball squad had a very successful season this year. Under the efficient coaching of Mr. Robbins the boys won nearly all of their games.

The varsity team went through the season winning 21 of the 24 games played, the honor of having defeated us going to Fayette and Swanton.

We also had a fine second team which won 16 out of 22 games. Three of the boys on this squad won their letters, so we are looking forward to another good team next year.

This year as in the two preceding years there was a county basketball league. For the second consecutive year Pettisville won the trophy, losing only one game in the league.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

The junior high team had the most successful season it has ever had. Not only did the boys win 13 of the 14 games played during the season, but they also went through the county tournament to become the junior high champions. The boys must give much credit for what they did to Mr. Gottschalk. He did an excellent job of coaching the five boys, and they all enjoyed working with him.

WEIDHARDT—Donald. Guard who constantly grabbed passes out of air in front of opponent's nose. Accurate passer, good dribbler, cool player.

NOFZIGER—Howard. Generally first man called upon as relief player. Always made good. Good point getter. Great things expected from him next year.

HESS—Paul. Fast and clever forward. Played wonderful floor game. Often popped out of thick of battle with ball. Good shot. One of leading scorers on team.

SMITH—Paul. Player called into game when going was rough. Great fighter. Played any position on floor. Has another year with us.

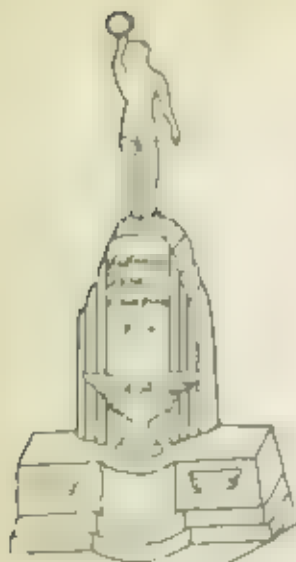

HUBER—Lloyd. Became, late in season, valuable substitute forward. Should be great forward next year.

RYCHENER—Lowell. Caused endless trouble for opposing forwards. Played steady, consistent game. Great ball handler. Running guard position. Great point getter.

WEBER—Lawrence. Tall, running forward. Fitted well into teamwork. Height an important factor. Fine sense of timing plays. In right place at right time.

WEBER—Wayne. One of best centers in N.W. Ohio. Chosen captain at end of season by members of squad. Captain and center of team with most successful season in history of Pettisville School.

TRACK

This year for the first time in three years we had a track team. Mr. Robbins created an interest among the boys again and tried to get as many as possible to come out for track. There was much good material, which made a fine showing.

The track team entered three meets this spring--the Toledo meet, which was held in the University field house; the county meet at Delta; and the Adrian meet at Adrian, Michigan.

BASEBALL

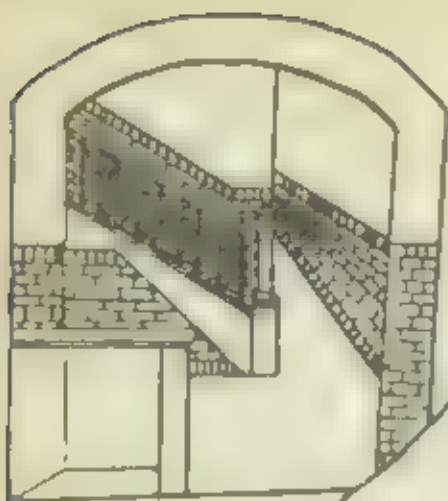

Having most of our players from last year plus a few new ones, we had a fair team this year. Last fall the boys won four of the seven games played. This spring they won a good percentage of their games.

Seven schools in the county formed a baseball league this spring. A trophy is given to the winner of this league. Pettisville won the Fulton County Tournament trophy last year. As this goes to press, we feel as though the boys have a good chance to win a trophy again this year.

BACK AGAIN, HOME TOWN

The three act play of love, luck, and laughter, presented by the junior class, was a great success.

Bob Bruce (Howard Nofziger) returns to his home town heralded as an example of great success. The whole town greets him as a conquering hero. The fact of the matter, that Bob Bruce is broke, makes this decidedly embarrassing. In spite of himself he is forced to act the role of the "Millionaire hero without the millions". Peggy (Helen Rychener) and Chic Wilton (Sherman Tavior) conspire together and force him to act the part of a millionaire. No one else knows of this terrible predicament. Chic is a good friend of Bob's and is the one who is the millionaire. When Bob's sweetheart, Shirley Avery (Grace Taylor), discovers Bob's situation, Bob is forced to use caveman methods to keep her quiet. Hugh Gorman (Richard Oyer), Shirley's boy friend before Bob Bruce came to town, and Judge Avery (Paul Smith), Shirley's uncle, are against Bob and try to cause trouble. Bibian Prescott (Dorothy Bernath) is Chic's girl friend. Lucius Opperson (Lloyd Huber) thinks a great deal of Peggy and is trying to write a book, he being the hero and Peggy the heroine. Annabelle (Helen Burkholder), an old maid looking for a man, furnishes loads of laughter.

A MERRY DEATH

Judge Taggart, ably played by Mr. Rychener, was erroneously terrified by an escaped criminal in the faculty play, A MERRY DEATH, which was presented April 3. The criminal, Jim the Dandy (nee A. C. Robbins), proved to be a hen-pecked weakling.

Can you imagine Mr. Robbins being so meek? Nevertheless he played the part very realistically. Mr. Babione made the audience enjoy his delineation of the gun-toting detective who captured Jim.

Miss Wyse, in the role of the Judge's secretary, efficiently arranged for his disappearance which was the basis for the catchy title. With charm and enthusiasm, Miss Wyse developed the Ethel Hopper character into one of the unforgettable major roles.

Miss Dimke gave vent to her fine dramatic abilities in her portrayal of the exceedingly changeable Mrs. Taggart whose emotions were intensified by the false report of the Judge's death which was written by Mary Lou, a character capably impersonated by Miss Burkholder.

Complications arose when Ernest, the Judge's twin brother, inopportunately arrived. Mr. Rychener's dual interpretation of the twins expertly emphasized the difference in personalities.

Completing the family circle were two daughters, Nella and Ruby, well played by Miss Steinbrocker and Miss Watson respectively.

Mr. Gottechalk, as the doctor, enacted one of the difficult roles with nicety of finish. Ernest's fiancée and the Hollywood producer were effectively presented by Miss Spiess and Mr. Steigely.

A mastery of the negro dialect was exhibited by Miss Miller, who was the superstitious maid.

In keeping with the cheery title, the play had a happy ending. The play was well presented and received much commendation.

ASK THE PROFESSOR

Commencement Day at a Girls' School is about the busiest and most colorful day of the entire year. There are always so many things left to be attended to at the last moment, so many good-byes to be said, invitations to be exchanged, chatter and hilarity.

On such a day as this, does the story of ASK THE PROFESSOR unfold itself. There are a few clouds and shadows of course, but what of that? Buoyant youth makes good in the end.

ASK THE PROFESSOR is the operetta which was successfully produced by the high school chorus this year.

THE CAST

DAWN OF SPRING

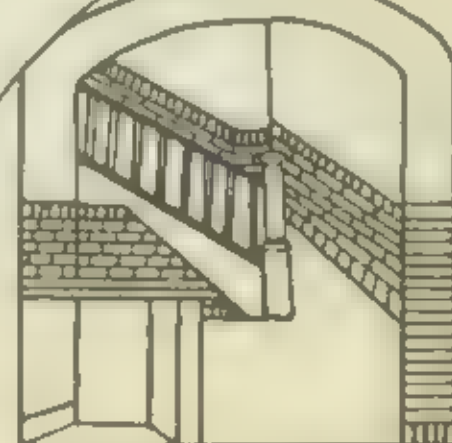

The DAWN OF SPRING came to Pettisville on Good Friday, April 10. The seventh and eighth grades presented, at that time, this lovely cantata by Richard Kountz. The beauties and glories of spring were pictured in the music itself. The cantata is a very popular one and was enjoyed by everyone who heard it. Virginia Smith and Marie Spengler played the accompaniment.

BACCALAUREATE

On Sunday evening, May 17, Rev. P. F. Radloff of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Wauseon gave the Baccalaureate Sermon, which was very profitable to everyone.

COMMENCEMENT

Rev. R. Lincoln Long of the Collingwood Presbyterian Church in Toledo delivered the commencement address on the evening of May 21 in the auditorium. The address proved to be exceptionally interesting and we are sure the seniors will long remember the truths Mr. Long so ably presented.

JOKES

Mr. Robbins:--(in algebra class) Keep your eyes on your own paper, Kenneth.
Kenneth Weber:--I hain't started yet.

Miss Watson:--What is the outer covering of the bean called?
Kenneth K.:--Epidermis.

Mr. Gottschalk:--If a person gets any of this Paris Green into his system it will kill him like any other insect.

Mr. Rychener:--Which state in the U. S. is the greatest sheep raising state?
Donald Miley:--Australia.

Mr. Babione:--(in bookkeeping class) From what company did I say the Puritan Grocery would probably buy some groceries?
Paul Smith:--From General Motors, I guess.

Irene Rittichier:--I hear you have a new niece?
Virginia Hill:--Yes, I have.
Irene R.:--What is it, boy or a girl?

Miss Wyse:--Chester, were you absent yesterday?
Chester W.:--No, I was at home.

Miss Watson:--Ralph, give me a collective noun.
Ralph R.:--Garbage can.

Mr. Rychener:--When was the revival of learning?
Andrew R.:--Just before exams.

Mr. Babione:--(some time after having rescued Georgia's grade card from the corridor floor and having affixed it to the bulletin board during her absence from the room) Georgia, your grade card is on the bulletin board.
Georgia H.:--Now who did that? Some dirty skunk!!!

Mr. Gottschalk and Miss Wyse in one scene of the faculty play had a long period of silence and inaction on the stage while Mr. Rychener and Miss Dimke conversed. The following occurred during rehearsal:
Miss Wyse:--What are we supposed to do during all this time--flirt with each other or watch them?
Mr. Gottschalk:--I'm going to watch them.

Miss Wyse:--If I remember correctly you boys both started your papers out something like this--On a certain day the stork called on Mr. and Mrs. So and So and brought a baby boy.
Richard Oyer:--No, mine was different, I wrote it first.
Miss Wyse:--Is that the only difference? Now Howard, what have you to say for yourself?
Howard H.:--The stork didn't bring me.

Teacher:--Do what this line tells you to do, "Make a picture of Frolic, the cat". The children drew but many made a picture of a man.
Teacher:--(examining the pictures) But you made a picture of a man and not a cat. (Coming to John she started to say) But you--
John interrupted:--I made Frolic, the cat but he is standing on his hind legs.

The Third Graders were telling stories one day. After Rutheda Yoder had told hers she said: "Oh, I made a terrible mistake."
Miss Steinbrecher:--What was wrong?
Rutheda:--I pronounced 'eagerly' with two cylinders.
